Search Off Long Island

Sea Combed For Bodies In Air Crash Fatal To 84

NEW YORK — A flotilla of ships criss-crossed the calm and sun-brightened sea off Jones Beach today in a search for bodies and debris from the crash of an airliner.

Eighty-four persons were aboard the Eastern Air Lines DC7B, a four-engine propeller plane, when it dived into the Atlantic minutes after taking off Monday night from Kennedy Airport.

No one survived the crash of the 52-ton airliner. A geyser of flames signaled the tragedy to watchers on shore some eight miles away.

By daybreak, searchers had recovered seven bodies. Mutilated parts of other bodies and fragments of wreckage gave mute testimony to the force of the impact.

Thirteen Coast Guard vessels searched a 200-square-mile area off Long Island's South Shore. Three seaplanes and three helicopters flew patterns over the scene.

Along 40 miles of beach, shore patrols collected debris that washed ashore.

There was no immediate hint of what caused the tragedy.

The weather was good, there was no hint of sabotage, and everything had seemed normal as the plane soared off Monday night from Kennedy International Airport, a federal official said.

There was no radio word of distress from the crew. It should have been a fine trip for Flight 663 to Richmond, Va.

Charlotte, N.C.; Greenville-Spartanburg, S.C., and Atlanta, Ga.

The four-engine, propeller-driven plane went down about five minutes after its 6:20 p.m. takeoff, dropping 3,700 feet into the dark calm sea. It was 14 miles from the airport, and about eight miles off Jones Beach, a deserted summer playground on Long Island's south shore.

The crews of two other airliners saw the crash.

William Lamb of the Civil Aeronautics Board said an Air Canada crew reported "an explosion in the ocean," and a Pan American flight saw the plane "in an exceptionally steep turn."

A Coast Guard lookout on shore, seaman Dale D. Bishop, 19, of Easton, Pa., heard a sound like a firecracker and saw a fire at sea.

"The flames were orange but I was not definite that it was a plane — yet it must have been. The flames flared up for a while and then died down," he said.

A fishing boat reported it had found a plane seat with a body strapped in it, but the body had slipped back into the water as it was being hoisted aboard.

The searchers also fished out scraps of burned and torn parts of the plane, charred bits of clothing and airline brochures, found floating on water 60 to 75 feet deep.

"You keep looking," said Coast Guard Capt. Ira McMillan of Memphis, Tenn. "When you don't see people alive it's a feeling of futility."

The 79 passengers included two young opera singers en route to a South Carolina concert, a woman bound for a funeral, a prominent Southern businessman, a former Virginia college beauty queen, soldiers heading home on furlough from Germany, and others returning to camp in Georgia.

The plane had started in Boston, but all but one of its passengers had boarded in New York.

Through the night, under the eerie light of flares dropped by planes and helicopters, the boats continued the search. Searchers could see the lights of the shore and the glow of Manhattan about 40 miles away.

Chris Walk of the Federal Aviation Agency said the last radio call from the plane was an acknowledgment of a routine instruction from the Kennedy tower to change direction. The plane had reported it was climbing through 3,700 feet, heading southeast.

The pilot was Capt. Frederick Robert Carson, 41, of Huntington, N.Y., a veteran of 19 years with the airline. Both he and first officer Edward Robert Dunn, also 41, of Clinton, Conn., were pilots during World War II. Carson in the Army Air Force and Dunn in the Navy.

A Civil Aeronautics Board said the investigation to establish the probable cause of the accident may take a long time.

Autopsy Held On Woman's Body In River

NEW CUMBERLAND — An autopsy was being held today on the body of a woman found floating in the Ohio River near the Crescent Brick Co. plant late Monday afternoon.

Squire John D. Herron, Hancock County coroner, said an inquest will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at his office.

Area police departments were alerted by radio after the body was spotted by maintenance workers at the strike-bound brick plant about 5:30 p.m., but no response on any missing women has been received, the coroner said.

There was no outward evidence of foul play, the squire said.

He declined to estimate how long the body had been in the river, pointing out the cold water tended to preserve the remains. He also declined to estimate her age.

The body was clad in a slip, brown burlap skirt, brassiere and belt. There were no shoes or blouse, the coroner said. The remains were taken to the Turley Funeral Home.

It was the second time in less than a year that a woman's body has been found in the same general vicinity. Last April, the badly decomposed body of another woman was found near the Stratton Dam but no identification was ever made despite attempts at fingerprint identification.

Leaders Get Reports Of Bundy Visit

President Confers With Democrats On Air Strike By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress awaited fresh reports today before moving toward any investigation of the Viet Nam situation.

President Johnson called in Democratic Senate and House leaders for a morning conference in which he was expected to bring them up to date on developments.

A Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee arranged for an afternoon briefing behind closed doors with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern Affairs.

Bundy apparently was in a position to relay to members some of the information his brother, presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, reported to the President and the National Security Council Monday about conditions as he found them in South Viet Nam.

Policy briefings were promised for 50 members of Congress invited with their wives to the White House tonight for the first of a series of receptions for senators and representatives.

Johnson planned to speak to the group. Other speakers include Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Undersecretary of State George W. Ball and Budget Director Kermit Gordon.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois scheduled an afternoon report to the GOP Policy Committee. He was expected to outline his understanding that a strike-for-strike policy of retaliation has been adopted by the administration.

Rival Camps Confident As USW Ballots

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Steelworkers voted for a president today in an election heavy with national economic implications.

Business circles — steelmakers in particular — hope the balloting will quickly produce a decisive winner so that the union and steel companies can get on with the job of writing a new labor contract.

David J. McDonald, who has headed the United Steelworkers Union since 1952, is opposed for re-election by union Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Many economists believe labor trouble in the basic steel industry could knock the steam out of the surging national economy in 1965.

Both sides predict victory. The Abel camp predicts a 200,000-vote edge. McDonald said last week, "I'm practically in."

Voting Of Midland Union Called 'Heavy'

Over 1,115 ballots had been cast at mid-morning at the Midland Steelworkers Hall in balloting by area locals on international officers of the United Steelworkers Union.

Joseph D'Alesio, president of Local 1212 representing some 6,000 production employees of the Crucible Steel Co., described the forenoon turnout as "heavy."

Others voting at the hall were Local 3177, with a membership of 500 clerical workers at Crucible, and Local 1269 of the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division of the E. W. Bliss Co., with 500 members. Voting began at 6:30 and will continue until 6 tonight. Local 5047 of Crucible's Titanium Division, with 100 members, will ballot at the plant gates.

Antiaircraft Missiles Are Set Up

Vietnamese Defenses Strengthened Against Any Red Retaliatory Blow

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vietnamese defenses against possible Communist retaliatory attacks bristled today.

A battery of Hawk antiaircraft missiles was set up at Da Nang air base and Vietnamese armed forces tightened the alert along the North Viet Nam border.

U.S. Air Force F105 fighter bombers roared aloft from Da Nang today, but headed into neighboring Laos for a bombing raid on Communist supply lines there.

Qualified sources at Da Nang, 80 miles south of the border, said the F105s, among the best in the U.S. Air Force arsenal, also carried out heavy raids in Laos Monday shortly after Vietnamese and American aircraft struck at North Viet Nam.

The sources said raids against North Viet Nam have halted, at least temporarily. The raids against Communist supply lines in Laos are expected to continue as they have for more than a month.

There were no immediate reports on results of the raids into Laos.

Heavy fighting continued in South Viet Nam today and a U.S. helicopter crew member was killed in action in Phuoc Tuy Province, not far from Binh Gia. Several other helicopter crewmen were wounded.

Binh Gia was the place where about 500 Vietnamese soldiers became casualties in the last week of 1964 in a huge Viet Cong operation.

Heavy fighting was reported elsewhere in this war-torn country, including one bloody battle under way near Pleiku, where two American installations were heavily hit Sunday by Viet Cong attacks which touched off the current Vietnamese crisis.

About 40 gloomy U.S. dependents left Saigon airport for home — the first of nearly 2,000 to be evacuated under White House orders while jubilant Vietnamese fliers celebrated Monday's air raids on North Viet Nam.

About 100 yards away, a solemn funeral ceremony was held for nine Americans, eight of whom were killed in Sunday's Viet Cong attack on Pleiku.

Each of the coffins, lined up in front of the transport plane which was returning the servicemen's bodies to the United States, was pinned with a Vietnamese and an American decoration. A wreath from the Vietnamese armed forces was placed at the head of each coffin.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor and Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, stopped for a moment of silence in front of each coffin.

The 36 target-seeking missiles were in place on their wheeled launching carriages, manned by 95 Marine officers and enlisted men.

An Army spokesman said the base had until now lacked equipment to down low-flying aircraft before they could get in close to the base. Another two Hawk units were on their way (Turn to VIET, Page 2)

3 Candidates Withdraw In Primary

Board Of Elections Approves Petitions Of 196 Aspirants

The County Election Board approved the petitions of 196 candidates for the May 4 primaries, allowed three candidates to withdraw their petitions, established an "economy plan" to limit the number of personnel in some precincts and awarded contracts to print ballots and furnish pollbooks at a meeting Monday afternoon at its office here.

The board granted ballot places to 99 Republicans and 97 Democrats for the primaries.

The board also granted ballot places to two Independent mayoralty candidates. They are Gerald C. Sanders of Lisbon and Harry Felger of East Palestine. The two Independents will skip the primaries and their names will appear on the general election ballot in November. But they were required to meet last week's filing deadline.

It also approved ballot places for 15 special questions and issues, including four proposed state amendments and two county levies up for a vote in all of the county's 165 precincts.

The countywide issues are renewal of a two-twenty mill levy for support of the Retarded Children's School at Elkton and op-

King To Lead Montgomery Voter March

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King returned to the city of his first racial triumph to lead his followers today in a "peaceful good-will" voter registration march.

After the procession, King planned to leave by plane for Washington to confer with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach about possible new federal voter legislation.

From the nation's capital, the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner plans to return to Selma, Ala., to resume command of the three-week-old civil rights struggle in that west Alabama city.

City Planners Act Post Office Site Study Requested

Acting at the request of the City Planning Commission, the firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates will make a survey of other possible downtown tracts and compare them with the W. 7th St. location the Post Office Department revealed Wednesday has been chosen as the site of East Liverpool's new postal facility.

Daniel Zeigler, a representative of the professional concern now preparing a "master plan" for the city, agreed to undertake the additional study of Post Office sites at the Planning Commission's monthly meeting Monday night at City Hall.

THE COMMUNITY Improvement Corp., an industrial development organization, hit at the W. 7th St. site as "not desirable" from several standpoints — most notably that it is "not sufficiently accessible to the downtown area."

The Post Office discussion arose last night when Glenn Waight, a member of the County Regional Planning Commission, asked if the local commission had been asked to express an opinion on the site.

Tompos Asks Dog Races In West Virginia

Bill Calls For Plan Similar To That Of Horse Race Tracks

CHARLESTON — Sen. William Tompos of Weirton, Democrat from Hancock County, today introduced a bill in the West Virginia legislature to authorize dog racing in the state on a basis like that under which horse racing is now conducted.

Tracks would pay a license fee of $250 per day of racing. A 4 per cent tax would be levied on pari-mutuel betting. A city in which a track was located would get one-fourth of the betting tax proceeds. One-fourth would go to the county if the track was not within a municipality.

To license and regulate the tracks, Tompos would establish a three-member West Virginia Dog Racing Commission.

State police salary and pension increases and a liquor price boost to raise money for mental hospitals were among other bills introduced.

All state police ranks would get raises under bills offered in the Senate and House.

Raises would include $88 a month for basic trainees and $75 a month for troopers in their first year after training. Yearly salaries of troopers in their second, third, fourth and fifth years would be $1,056 above present levels.

Trucker Pleads Guilty In Child's Crash Death

Robert Arnold Stollenwerk, 29, of 1119 Pennsylvania Ave. pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter Monday before Common Pleas Judge John Griesinger at Steubenville.

He had been indicted by the Jefferson County Grand Jury for the death of Mary Xintarianos, 5-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Xintarianos of Steubenville Jan. 2 in a collision involving his truck and the Xintarianos auto. The mishap occurred at the approach to the Ft. Steuben bridge.

A hearing on a defense request for mitigation will be held Feb. 16 at 1:30 p.m.

In Ohio Assembly

Legislators Aim
At Drunk Drivers
And Loan Sharks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Loan sharks and drunk drivers became possible targets of the 106th General Assembly Monday night as the lawmakers diverted their attention momentarily from major educational issues.

Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, co-sponsored with Sen. Robert C. Blackburn, D-Montgomery, a measure aimed at lenders who fail to inform their customers fully on interest and other charges.

The bill would require that borrowers be provided with a statement to include "a plain expression of the interest rate as well as the concrete dollar figures, including price, down payment, actual installment costs, and incidental expenses," Carney said.

Carney conceded the proposal may not be a cure-all for shady loan and installment purchase operations but said to accurately inform the customer of interest charges would "provide some relief."

Among 15 bills introduced in the House as the legislators returned from weekend recess was one to tighten Ohio laws covering drunk driving.

It would require the suspension of drivers licenses up to a year for persons who refuse alcohol tests requested by a peace officer.

The suspension would be mandatory upon the sworn testimony of two law enforcement officials that there were grounds to suspect the person operated a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The measure was introduced by Rep. Edmund G. James, R-Noble, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, along with Reps. Ethel G. Swanbeck, R-Erie, and Bernice MacKenzie, D-Stark.

Another new House bill would require the highway director to obtain the consent of local governments before ordering a highway abandoned. Rep. Stuart Henderson, D-Harrison, one of the bill's sponsors, charged the administration with "ignoring the needs of rural Ohio" in abandoning parts of the highway system.

The House also received proposals to permit the sale of drugs and other devices to prevent conception, consolidate Ohio's 21 tuberculosis hospitals into "a dozen or less" regional hospitals, require monthly meetings of county commissioners, and require newspapers to furnish fluorescent safety vests for newspaperboys.

The Senate received proposals calling for June primary elections in presidential years and August primaries in off-years, providing for minimum annual auto inspections and humane slaughter of livestock at commercial slaughter houses, authorizing group insurance for county employees, and setting $1.25 per hour as Ohio's minimum wage.

Committee hearings begin Wednesday night on a proposed boost in the state sales tax to provide an additional $116 million for schools. The bill, initiated by petition on behalf of 10 statewide educational groups, would boost the tax from three to four per cent.

Hearings probably will begin in the House Education Committee next week on the white-hot school bus bill which is continuing to draw floods of mail from throughout the state—most of it negative.

by sea, according to Marine Capt. Leon E. Obenhaus, 30, of Victoria, Tex., commander of the Hawk Battalion's 'A' Battery.

Supersonic F102 jet fighters armed with heat-seeking missiles are in alert position, ready to scramble in case of any attack by North Vietnamese or Communist Chinese aircraft.

Vietnamese military patrols roamed the outer perimeter of the base, on guard against attacks by Viet Cong units or mortars. Such attacks on Bien Hoa air base last November and Pleiku Sunday took a high toll in American personnel and aircraft.

Along the frontier and throughout the 1st Army Corps region, Vietnamese armed forces were on full alert.

"It seems too much to expect that the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam will let the aerial attacks Sunday and Monday go without some sort of retaliation," a U.S. military adviser said.

A senior American adviser said Vietnamese troops in the frontier area were in fighting trim with high morale. He said morale was further boosted by reports that 228 Viet Cong were killed in a major battle Sunday south of Da Nang. The battle also claimed a heavy toll of Vietnamese lives and weapons.

U.S. Jets Were Set,
'No Company' Came

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 15 U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighters were ready to take on Communist Chinese MIGs Monday if the Chinese had tried to interfere with the South Vietnamese air force's bombing strike against troop bases in Communist North Viet Nam.

But, as one officer put it, "company never came."

The 15 F100s flew combat air patrol over the propeller-driven Skyraider dive bombers of the South Vietnamese air force which smashed at three places north of the 17th Parallel boundary.

Four other F100s went along on the mission to lay down "suppressive fire" — that is, to shoot up antiaircraft batteries on the ground so the South Vietnamese planes could have a better chance. Some of these F100s took hits, but their pilots apparently escaped unhurt.

Motorist's Case
Set On Thursday

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a continuance until Thursday at 9 a. m. in a hearing for Franklin H. Matchett, 1128 St. Clair Ave., cited Feb. 2 on E. 3rd St. on a charge of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated.

Matchett's trial originally was continued from last Wednesday after he asked time to obtain counsel.

The judge also set a continuance until Feb. 16 at 9 a. m. in the case of Richard Wilkes of Wellsville R. D. 1, accused of assault Feb. 2 on Lawrence Oceppek of E. 4th St. Wilkes pleaded not guilty at arraignment a week ago and his case had been set today.

Oceppek alleged in an affidavit he was struck on the head with a beer bottle while in the City Bar. The judge explained there was no prosecutor for the case today because Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper is busy in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon and Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark was absent because of the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. G. Jay Clark.

The mirrors on a Wellsville school bus and a coal truck were knocked off when they passed on a narrow section of Route 45 near the entrance to the H. K. Porter clay mine at 8:40 a. m. today, according to Wellsville police.

The truck was driven by James G. Smith of Irondale and the bus by Martha S. Wright of Wellsville R. D. 1. Both pulled to the extreme right to pass but there wasn't enough room, police said.

White And Negro
Methodists Unite
In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The head of West Virginia's Methodist Church announced Monday that the state's white and Negro conferences will merge, effective June 1.

Bishop Fred G. Holloway made the announcement in a speech before a meeting of the state's Methodist church leaders, including ministers and laymen.

He said the transfer stemmed from action taken at the 1964 General Conference and Jurisdictional Conference.

At present the state's all-Negro churches are members of the segregated Central Jurisdiction. The West Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church is all-white.

"What is involved," Bishop Holloway said, "is the transfer of fellow Christians into our midst who have just as much right to be part of us as we have a right to be part of us. I can see no significance to be attached to the fact that now a white bishop will appoint Negro pastors and that Negroes will attend our annual conference."

However, Bishop Holloway said he could see significance in the fact that "we shall now regard men of dark skin to be our brothers; that we have waved goodbye to the myth of color."

He told the more than 60 church leaders present at the called meeting that it is time that Christians everywhere accept the fact that society is moving far more rapidly in the field of integration than the church.

"Whether individuals at the moment like it or not," he said, "race equality is as certain as woman's suffrage."

"You are among our leaders, and the church or churches to which you are related must be made aware of what is happening and must be led to the acceptance of the equality of all in Christ. We must at long last recognize that we are in this church of Christ not because we are white or black, but because we are Christians."

Bishop Holloway said the church must soon come to the point where ministers will be assigned to churches irrespective of color.

He expressed hope that congregations will take this matter so seriously that of their own volition they will ask him to send them the minister who can fulfill their needs — regardless of his color.

He also touched upon matters pertaining to evangelism and youth work in the state and the role of the church in being concerned with the needs of youth.

Concerning college students, he said, "Here we may not only be missing one of our great opportunities, but may be guilty of allowing a segment of our constituents to graduate into the world without the support of a faith that will give direction to them in coming years."

He concluded the speech by noting, "If the Christian faith is relevant only to the church and its organizations and not relevant to all of life, then it is not relevant."

Salary Hike Levy Sought

The statewide median schedule. The salary in Wellsville for those with a bachelor degree runs from $4,300 to $5,500 and with a master's degree from $4,500 to $6,000. Wellsville is below East Liverpool, Salem, Steubenville, Toronto, Carrollton, Columbiana and Leetonia.

A 56 per cent majority would be needed to pass such a levy at the primary. Baker said it is feared that if a levy was not placed on the primary ballot, political situations would effect its outcome at the general election in November.

It was estimated the three mills would net $35,000 to $36,000 a year.

Dr. Janis Lauva, vice president, said he personally feels favorably toward a salary increase for teachers but commented that the board has to consider the building program. He said the inequality is not only in Wellsville, but over the nation, where college graduates are paid less than some who never graduate from public schools but make more money.

DR. LAUVA SAID he also had heard a comment the teachers would be against a bond issue if the levy is not presented. Baker said the bond issue was never discussed at an association meeting and that such a remark "is just a rumor."

Ferrall said that even though Wellsville is low in salaries, the district is above the state average in millage and current expenses.

Baker said "it is no disgrace to be high in taxes, but it is to be low in the salary schedule."

Miss Jenkins said she has been writing state legislators in regards to the financial problems of teachers. She said the people should know how much school taxes Pennsylvania residents pay.

She also commented that when Beaver Local presented its levy for the second time, it was not put in the newspaper because those in charge felt the less publicity, the better. "This was so the rabble rousers wouldn't get out and work against it," she commented.

LATER, Ferrall commented that if the teachers want to compare their salaries with those employed in industry, they should work the same way. There are college graduates working in industry eight hours a day, five days a week. Teachers say they work at nights, "I think we would be better off to have them work eight hours a day, then they would not have the work at home and all take a two-week vacation in the summer," he said. He said the schools are empty a fourth of the time each year. This might accelerate the educational program and the youths could get in one or two years of junior college before going on to get a higher education.

Myers said he agrees, but it is a question of getting the extra money to operate a tri-semester program. It is difficult to arrange a schedule as the parents want to take their children with them on vacations, he said, also pointing out some students are not capable of an accelerated program.

IN A discussion that was held concerning the building program and the teachers request, Myers presented board members with figures comparing Wellsville with other area districts. It shows Wellsville has an average daily enrollment of 1,720, ranking fifth in 13 districts. Wellsville spends a grand total of $382.20 per student, ranking ninth, and the tax valuation per pupil is $6,967, giving the district a ranking of 12th. Wellsville has a total millage of 25.50, ranking fourth along with East Palestine.

The board has applied to the state for funds for the proposed building program. The board also has been interviewing prospective architects.

Myers showed the members two questionnaires that will be distributed to teachers in regards to the construction of buildings.

Elementary teachers will be asked various questions as to what they feel is needed, what can be used, the type of equipment desired, etc.

JUNIOR AND senior high teachers will be given a similar form asking room requirements, physical requirements, permanent facilities desired, storage facilities and auxiliary facilities needed, individual needs and the type of furniture necessary.

Myers said this information can be utilized by an architect, if the program goes through.

George T. Varian of 7th Ave., LaCroft, retired cooper, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alice Boyce, 822 Lisbon St., Monday at 10:15 p. m. following an eight-week illness.

New Lighting Contracts Let

EAST PALESTINE — Awarding of contracts for a new business area lighting project was announced by Mayor Robert Harding at a meeting of Council Monday night.

Mayor Harding said individual contracts were let totaling $13,856, or about $5,000 less than the original estimate for 37 poles and 47 new mercury vapor lights for the center of the city.

The Graybar Electric Co. of Youngstown received a $7,362 contract for supplying the poles and lights, Bryan Spait Co. of East Palestine was given a $1,946 contract to provide foundations for the poles, and the Atlas Electrical Co. of Elyria was given the installation contract at $4,548.

Mayor Harding said the individual contracts were less than contracts offered for the whole projects.

7 Witnesses Due In Fraud Nuptial Case

Seven witnesses have been subpoenaed for a hearing Wednesday in the second phase of the allegedly fraudulent marriage consent case.

Victor Lee Hofmann, 19 of McQueens Run Rd. near Wellsville is serving a 10-day term in the County Jail at Lisbon on a contempt of court charge after refusing to tell the court who signed his mother's signature on a marriage consent form.

Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin also fined the youth $500 and costs at a hearing Friday.

Answering contempt of court charges tomorrow will be Major W. McDowell and Anna L. McDowell of Hillcrest, who, the state alleges, were witnesses to the purported signature of Rose Hofmann on the marriage consent form filed Jan. 29 in Probate Court at Lisbon. Mrs. Hofmann has denied signing the consent form.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis said the alleged fraudulent action by the McDowells induced the court to issue the marriage license which otherwise would not have been granted.

Other witnesses summoned include Hofmann's 18-year-old bride, Cheryl Dexter Hofmann; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Dexter of Drain St., East Liverpool; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James T. Hofmann, and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Haight of Hillcrest.

Atty. Howard Cole, assistant prosecutor, and Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan questioned young Hofmann Monday at the County Jail.

Three Bloody Years In Korea

The United States is waging war against a vaguely defined enemy in Southwest Asia. Forget the double-talk and look at the casualty lists. This is war.

It is a fine time to remember the difference between the thought processes of Asiatics and Occidentals.

It is a fine time to remember the difference between people who fight wars and people who make policies that cause wars to be fought. They need to be of one mind.

It is a fine time to remember the difference between high-level decisions of federal government and low-level decisions of ordinary citizens who ultimately bear the consequences of high-level decisions.

By remembering these differences, which were not remembered in the case of a previous war on the Korean peninsula, things that ultimately will become clear might be clearer at the outset.

IN OCCIDENTAL thought processes, human life is highly esteemed and sacrificed only for the noblest causes. In Oriental thought processes, life is held cheaply and can be squandered for any purpose that comes to the mind of authoritarians.

In Viet Nam, as previously in South Korea, it is clear to U.S. policy-makers why there must be war. But it was not clear to all the combat soldiers who fought in Korea, and it will not be clear to all the combat soldiers who would end up fighting in South Viet Nam. This was troublesome in Korea. It would be troublesome in Viet Nam. A man needs some reason to die.

In Korea, high-level decision makers in government finally had to yield to the low-level decision that the war should be stopped because the United States couldn't kill Chinese troops as fast as they were thrown into battle but the People's Republic of China could kill U.S. troops faster than it would be possible to throw them into battle.

IN KOREA, a strategic blunder was dictated by political expediency.

The United States did not wage aerial warfare behind enemy lines, thereby denying itself its strongest weapon. It was diffident, moreover, about exploiting its superiority on the seas, which partly denied it the use of its second strongest weapon.

It tried to slug it out with a numerically superior enemy on land with only nominal United Nations support. The net effect was to save South Korea from immediate conquest but is saving it from ultimate conquest only by maintaining it as a garrison state, at enormous expense and by dint of heavy personal sacrifice among the men who must go there in the line of duty.

Viet Nam may well be another Korea. The same elements are present — the same kind of civil war between factions of natives, the Chinese Communists and now, apparently, Russian Communists aligned against U.S. troops in a far corner of the world.

THERE ARE similarities to remember, along with differences.

How much did the United States learn during those three bloody years in Korea?

False Alarms

Three pieces of fire equipment and six men rushed to the Klondike area Sunday afternoon.

All for naught — the call proved to be a false alarm. The firemen weren't upset because there was no fire, in fact they were relieved. But you can be sure that they must literally have been burned up over the fact that they risked valuable equipment and possible injury to battle a blaze that didn't exist. Fortunately, in this case there was no damage and there were no injuries. On the next such call there's always the possibility things might not go so well.

Deliberately-placed false alarms find their way into station records now and then. They are no credit to the thoughtless people who turn them in.

Lysenko Made His Point

Whether Trofim Denisovich Lysenko, the Russian geneticist who belatedly has been kicked out of his prized place as director of the Institute of Genetics of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, believed his own line is not known.

It doesn't matter.

What matters is how an opportunist demonstrated it is possible to get to the top of the ideological pile and do vast damage in a society dominated by absolutists who tolerate no discussion.

Lysenko's ideas about environmental changes being transmitted by heredity were challenged strongly by other genetics. He fastened himself to the late Joseph Stalin and went to the top of the pile. The dissenters went to Siberia. Lysenko found out what Stalin believed and believed likewise.

When Stalin died, Lysenko fastened himself to Nikita Khrushchev and stayed on top of the pile. But Khrushchev is gone now, and so is Lysenko.

The moral of his life undoubtedly will remain — not as a warning to other Soviet scientists but as an invitation.

The way for them to get to the top of the pile even in science is to find out what the men on the top of the pile believe and believe the same thing.

Make the authoritarians look good.

Rationalize their errors. Gloss over their shortcomings. Make them believe they are all-knowing as well as all-powerful.

Put on a gray flannel suit and say Yes with a smile. Be a member of the team. Nothing bores a wielder of power like someone who disagrees. Be agreeable.

This was Lysenko's secret. If he had been a politician, or any other careerist, he would have been playing the game by standard rules. But he was a scientist — a geneticist. His was one of the most remarkable careers in modern Russia until the men he agreed with weren't there any more.

On Thin Ice

The East Liverpool area has a number of ponds which become ice-skating rinks when cold weather sets in.

Such ponds provide a lot of fun and wholesome outdoor recreation. They also can turn into death traps, however, when the ice becomes too thin.

For a case in point, there was the tragic story that came from Warrenton, Va., over the weekend. Four young children drowned when the ice on a pond broke beneath their weight.

Parents should caution youngsters of the dangers that accompany skating on unsupervised ponds and other bodies of water.

WORLD'S FAIR promoters overestimated the fleecibility of the American public. They put on a swell show, worth every penny of its exorbitant cost, New York style.

But with the exception of places like Dallas, Texas, Miami Beach in season and others too few to mention, the American people don't live New York style. For most of us a dollar is still a lunch and 10 dollars are something to be counted twice.

For the sake of art, culture, promotion and high finance, may the good old New York World's Fair rise above its money ailments and have a bang-up second year. But about the bovine public, boys . . .

It can be milked just so much, no more.

President's Power In Time Of Crisis

By John Hightower

With the apparent hardening of U.S. policy in South Viet Nam, American forces may become increasingly involved in an undeclared war. What's the origin of the President's power to send men to fight under such conditions? What policy aims guide his decisions?

WASHINGTON Gradually and with evident reluctance, President Johnson appears to be hardening U.S. military policy in Viet Nam.

Unless the situation takes some sudden and presently unforeseen turn toward a peaceful settlement, any challenging new thrusts by the Communists are likely to draw quick American retaliation.

This has not been true until now in the long, grinding Southeast Asian conflict. But Johnson and his chief advisers now believe North Viet Nam and Red China, and possibly the Soviet Union, have come to doubt this country's will to continue the struggle.

BESIDES AN intensification of the fighting in South Viet Nam and more strikes at Communist bases in North Viet Nam, this means that American armed forces in Southeast Asia are likely to become increasingly involved in an undeclared war in a distant land.

It raises anew questions about the President's power to send men to fight under such conditions, and about the policy aims which guide his decisions.

So far the United States has carried out two air strikes against North Viet Nam. The first was made last Aug. 5 after North Vietnamese torpedo boats had attacked U.S. destroyers patrolling in international waters in the Gulf of Tonkin off the Viet Nam coast.

The second strike was delivered Sunday in retaliation for Communist raids on U.S. installations in South Viet Nam.

Administration legal experts say that both U.S. operations were ordered by the President under his constitutional powers as commander in chief of the armed forces — the same powers which governed the earlier dispatch of officers and men as combat advisers in South Viet Nam.

The Constitution specifies that Congress has the power "to declare war" but the legal experts cite a long list of historical precedents to show that not all wars were "declared" and that many presidents have acted without formal congressional sanction.

SINCE THE United States became involved in the cold war almost 20 years ago, however, presidents have generally sought congressional authorization or approval for their use of forces abroad.

President Johnson obtained a resolution from Congress covering U.S. operations in Southeast Asia last August after he had carried through the air strike against the torpedo boat bases in North Viet Nam.

The resolution specified that Congress "approves and supports" the determination of the President to repel attacks on U.S. armed forces by "all necessary measures." It also declared the United States "prepared as the President determines" to assist countries in the area (including South Viet Nam) to defend their freedom by "all necessary steps including the use of armed force."

Congressional committees have compiled more than 100 incidents throughout American history in which presidents have employed force abroad to protect U.S. property or citizens, keep a potential enemy at bay, or fight an undeclared war.

In 1818, President James Monroe sent troops to Florida, a Spanish possession. President Ulysses S. Grant intervened in Santo Domingo in 1869. Before the United States got into World War II in 1941 President Franklin D. Roosevelt dispatched a force to protect Iceland against possible German conquest.

MORE RECENTLY President Harry S. Truman began fighting in Korea in June 1950 without a declaration of war.

In October 1962, President John F. Kennedy threw a naval blockade around Cuba and told the Soviet Union to remove its nuclear missiles. He was backed by a congressional resolution expressing U.S. determination to prevent Communist aggression from Cuba and to deny use of that island as a base for foreign aggression in this hemisphere.

At least four such resolutions have been passed in the last decade.

These expressions by Congress together with the historical record of presidential precedents are cited by administration legal experts as supporting President Johnson's authority as commander in chief to fight the war in Viet Nam as he sees fit.

So far as Johnson himself is concerned the current issues do not post constitutional problems but grave problems of policy bearing on the central question: how to persuade North Viet Nam, supported by the Soviet Union and Red China, that it cannot win the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam and cannot drive the United States out of Southeast Asia without increasingly risking its own destruction?

When North Vietnamese PT boats attacked American destroyers last August there was already general acceptance in the National Security Council that some action would have to be taken against North Viet Nam if it was ever to be brought to the peace table. Johnson had determined however, that the United States would not deliberately broaden the war.

THE ATTACK on the destroyers, viewed as a direct Red challenge to the United States, was judged here to call for a violent response and the President approved a one-shot retaliatory blow—a decision short of a policy of permanently expanding the conflict into North Viet Nam. Any hope that this single action would persuade the leaders in Hanoi to change their ways proved vain.

Subsequently there were other Communist actions which angered U.S. officials but did not in the President's final judgment present such a direct challenge.

Johnson chose not to hit North Viet Nam following attacks on an airfield and an officers billet late last year. Seven Americans were killed, many were wounded. In retrospect, some authorities think the Communists may then have gotten the idea that the United States was weakening in its determination to stay in South Viet Nam.

In the policy reviews which followed the November election, administration officials reportedly decided that more Communist attacks against American installations had to be expected and that the United States should be ready to strike back.

Therefore, when the attack was made on U.S. installations at Pleiku last Sunday, the disposition to deliver a counterblow was already firmly established among the policy makers.

Sources say that there was no consideration of not retaliating.

Cold War Gets Hot

By David Lawrence

Is Another Korean Stalemate In The Offing?

The cold war is getting hotter. Yet the Western Allies are in disarray while Red China and the Soviet Union are lined up on the same side against the United States. There is apparently under way a determined effort to force the 22,000 American troops out of South Viet Nam.

The North Viet Nam government — with arms supplied by the Communists — has just made two attacks in South Viet Nam against U.S. installations. Seven Americans were killed and 109 were wounded in the most costly assault against American troops in the Viet Nam war. The prompt retaliation by the United States and South Viet Nam in ordering bombing raids against North Viet Nam is an indication that the United States is not going to be frightened into a withdrawal.

All this happened at the very time that Soviet Premier Kosygin, conferring in Hanoi with the North Viet Nam government, was offering not merely economic help but more military aid directly related to air operations.

Internal disturbances, moreover, have been instigated by the Red Chinese in Laos and Thailand.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is trying very hard to avoid doing anything that could bring about an "escalation" toward a major conflict but the situation is building up to the point where the United States may not be able to remain passive much longer or to limit its operations to mere reprisals.

There is speculation of all kinds here as to what the Soviet purpose is in offering military aid to North Viet Nam at this particular time.

Some wishful thinkers express the belief that perhaps Russia wants to get into the situation sufficiently to exercise some kind of neutralizing influence, but the Moscow government is not interested in pulling American chestnuts out of the fire. It seeks only to add to the complications that will mean more troubles for the United States government.

While Red China and the Soviet Union are at loggerheads on ideological questions, there can be little doubt that they have a common purpose in trying to get the United States out of Asia.

President Johnson has displayed a great deal of caution in recent weeks in dealing with the Viet Nam situation and with international politics generally.

Unneeded Remarks

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks middle-aged women get tired of hearing:

"Oh, I don't think it's getting very gray. Someone across the room would hardly even notice it."

"You need more than a husband, Grace, to help you get into that girdle. You need a crowbar."

"You mean this is your husband? He looks so cute and boyish — for a moment I thought he was your son."

"Quit worrying, honey. What if the boat does overturn? You'd float for three days — and in that time you'd be bound to be rescued."

"Mother, it's much too young for you. Why, even I wouldn't wear a dress like that."

"And now let me introduce that grand little old lady of the PTA — Grace Spreitzel, who has been active in our organization since memory runneth not to the contrary."

"Sometimes I envy you, Madge: a career of your own, and no husband or squawking brats to tie you down. And think of the retirement pension you'll get — in a few years."

"Sure I asked you to get me a blind date, Charley. But where did you pick this one out — at the old ladies' home?"

"What you need is a nice cat, Madge. There is nothing like a pet to keep you from feeling lonely."

"You sure you want to go on this particular cruise, ma'am? Usually it's taken — uh — by a — uh — well, by a younger type crowd. Sometimes they can be pretty noisy."

"Oh, is that you Grace? You oughtn't to scare a fellow like that so early in the morning. Well, what are we having for breakfast?"

Postal Site Study Asked

business area, some public parking spaces would be available, he said. If the construction could be tied in with the long-range parking plans the commission will devise, "there is a chance little or no space would have to be provided on the site," Zeigler said.

Zeigler said he feels the Post Office would be better located "in a central spot equidistant from all fringe areas." However, he conceded the prices of available property always pose a problem in such site selections. If the Post Office attracts considerable truck traffic, the fact it is in a "fringe area" would be an advantage from the standpoint the heavy vehicles would be kept out of the immediate downtown area, he commented.

ZEIGLER INDICATED his firm's findings on the Post Office site may be available within 10 days or two weeks. Eckert said the commission probably will call a special committee to hear the findings. Some data related to the Post Office site is being collected now as part of a study of the central business area, Zeigler said.

Mayor Merrill D. Hall, a member of the commission, said the Post Office Department brought its "trouble - shooter for the whole U.S." into East Liverpool as part of its efforts to obtain a suitable site. He said he talked with the "trouble - shooter" after the man was brought to his office by Postmaster Samuel Brown.

The Post Office had sought to acquire the Community Parking Lot for a site, but found it was under lease, the mayor said.

"He told me where the Post Office should go, but the price was too high," the mayor said. "They brought him here because they couldn't get anywhere on prices." The mayor said he was scheduled to have another meeting with the "trouble - shooter" but it never materialized.

AT THE OUTSET of the discussion, Waight asked if the planning commission ever had been contacted about the Post Office site and Eckert replied in the negative.

Zeigler said he attended a CIC meeting at which Post Office sites were discussed. "I offered comments on one or two sites, but no official action was taken," he said.

The firm "never was asked to make a report or study" on the various sites, he added.

He said the firm's land use study, part of the long - range "master plan" survey, "has not proceeded to the place where we could pinpoint a location."

E. L. Wheatley, another member of the commission, said he attended meetings on Post Office sites over a period of 18 months. He said the most striking revelation was the high prices asked for sites that were under consideration.

Referring to the W. 7th St. site, he asked: "When you say that site is not as accessible as another, who do you mean that it's not accessible to?"

WHEATLEY SAID there is little or no difference in the distance from the Diamond to the proposed site and to the present Post Office on Broadway. He said no one raised serious questions of accessibility when the Post Office proposed a site on W. 3rd St. west of Market St., which later was abandoned.

William Rea, commenting on lack of adequate parking at the new Station A Post Office on Pennsylvania Ave., declared he believes a adequate space should be provided at the downtown facility.

Then Eckert commented the commission should not take a position on the site without a study by the Hill organization.

"I don't believe it would be wise to say anything now," he added.

Zeigler said he believes one of the significant factors apparently is the high prices asked for downtown land.

"If the government can't afford a site for a Post Office, nobody will be able to buy land to modernize or improve commercial property in the central business area," he said.

WHEATLEY read a letter which he said he wrote to the Cincinnati Regional Office of the Post Office department congratulating officials on selection of the W. 7th St. site. He commented in the letter that the proposed site will be as accessible to many people as the present Post Office, whether they're on foot or in an auto.

He also commented on "surprising" prices asked for real estate at some of the proposed sites.

Miss Gladys DeBolt, a member of a Planning Commission study group, asked if prices ever had been obtained on nearby property to allow expansion of the present Post Office. The W. 7th St. site will cost $143,000 and the Post Office Department might expand the present facility to meet its need by adding "a little to it," she said.

She said she feels the present building is an asset to the community and in a good location. She commented that most new post offices seem to be unattractive "piles of concrete blocks." If the present building is abandoned it's likely to become "another parking lot or service station," she said.

ZIEGLER presented a preliminary report on the firm's land use study in East Liverpool and surrounding territory in St. Clair and Liverpool Townships.

He said the study indicates there are several suitable industrial sites in the region—large tracts of comparatively level ground with a grade of not over 5 per cent.

The sites are: On Route 170 northeast of Calcutta; on Route 170 in the vicinity of St. Clair Plaza; on Route 267 near the Swaney Airport; on Route 30 near its junction with Route 7, and on Route 267 between East Liverpool and Glenmoor.

Some land preparation would be necessary on most of the sites for industrial use, he said. Land with a 2 per cent slope is "ideal" because little or no site preparation is needed, he said.

All the sites have good accessibility to the Lake Erie-Ohio River Highway, he commented. Plans for extension of water and sewer service into the adjoining townships would be an additional advantage in persuading new industry to locate there, he said.

ZEIGLER SAID the firm also is looking into a big tract near Congo — south of Newell — but must check first with the Corps of Engineers at Pittsburgh on relative flood stages.

Zeigler said the study shows 33 per cent of East Liverpool's land now is occupied by single family homes; with 1.8 per cent in duplexes and 0.04 per cent in multi-family dwellings.

The study showed 2.9 per cent of the land is in commercial use — for retail and wholesale business and parking lots, he said. Public use, including schools, accounts for 2 per cent and semi-public use totals 5.4 per cent, he added.

Railroad property, including yards and tracks, covers 1.3 per cent of the land. Light and heavy industry utilize 4.4 per cent.

Approximately 34 per cent of all property is vacant, primarily because it is on slopes too steep for any use, Zeigler said. He said streets occupy 13 per cent of the total area, while in the business district 37 to 38 per cent of the land is taken up with streets and alleys. Streets cover 33 per cent of the area in residential districts, although in many communities the figure averages 23 per cent, Zeigler said.

A LETTER ON amendments in the articles of co - operation between the city commission and the county commission was referred to Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper for study.

Mayor Hall reported on a meeting last week at Lisbon on a proposal to establish a county airport. The group approved a motion to send letters to State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel and the Ohio Department of Aviation emphasizing East Liverpool's interest in locating the field in this vicinity.

Rea reported on a meeting Saturday with representatives of a firm that provides shelters at school bus stops. Councilmen William Davis and James Cunningham also reported on the meeting briefly. The next meeting will be held March 8.

Another House-passed bill expected to win Senate approval today aims at simplifying the income tax problems of West Virginians who earn their livings in Maryland, Virginia or Kentucky.

Of the five states adjoining West Virginia, only those three have a state personal income tax similar to this state's.

West Virginians who will benefit from the legislation are mainly in the Huntington, Williamson, Bluefield, Princeton, Keyser and Martinsburg areas.

eration of a sheltered workshop plus a 65-hundredths of a mill for County Home operations.

It accepted the withdrawals of Lloyd H. Rhodes as a Republican candidate for Council-at-large in Wellsville and Albert Lesch and Harold J. Astory, both Salem Democrats.

Rhodes' withdrawal leaves four seeking the three GOP nominations in Wellsville. They are Meryle D. Kenny, incumbent, James E. Sumpter, J. Marvin Hall and John E. McGarey.

In the Salem withdrawals,

Lesch originally had filed for the First Ward post and Astory for Third Ward representative. After a ward boundary change, which was upheld in Common Pleas Court, both submitted letters of withdrawal with Astory re-filing for the Second Ward seat and Lesch re-entering as an at-large candidate.

In the "economy plan", the board authorized only four precinct personnel instead of the customary six in those precincts where only one primary will be held or where only special questions and issues are on the ballot.

Six personnel will be required only in East Liverpool, Wellsville, Lisbon and Salem, the only communities which have primary contests, the board said.

The Wellsville Publishing Co. was given a contract to print primary ballots on its bid of $5,815.46. The Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem, the only other bidder, asked $6,017.70.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. received the contract to provide pollbooks for both the May primaries and the November general election.

It asked $24.25 per precinct where primaries will be held and $19.40 in precincts where only the state amendments or special issues will be on the ballot. The $24.25 figure also was stipulated for pollbooks to be used in the November election.

The Johnson - Watson Co. of Dayton offered the pollbooks at $25.50 and $20.75 while the Herr Printing Co. of Columbus asked $25.70 and $20.95.

Pesticide Study Slated In County

LISBON — A survey of pesticides and how they are used on farms will be made in Columbiana County during February and March, according to J. R. Kendall of Columbus, state statistician.

Columbiana is one of 400 counties in the U. S. included in a national study of farm uses of pesticides. The results will be used to help assess the economic impact of present and future uses of chemical control measures. This study, the first of its kind, is part of the U. S. Department of Agriculture research program to develop more effective and safer pest control methods, Kendall said.

Farm operators living in selected areas of the county will be asked to report on the sprays and dusts used in 1964 against crop and livestock insects and for killing weeds. The survey will include questions on the materials used, costs and method of application and other related farm characteristics.

Board Pays Bills Totaling $27,179

Special bills totaling $27,179.63 were paid by the Midland Board of Education Monday night, completing payment for the new $36,000 science laboratory and equipment installed in the high school this year.

Payments included $24,209 to the American Seating Co., $2,369.63 to the Modany Brothers Construction Co. of Midland and $601 to Joseph Bontempo, Beaver architect.

THE BOARD named Miss Georgiana Raich of Midland as a teacher in the fifth grade, at a salary of $4,500 prorated for the remainder of the year.

Miss Raich was graduated last month from Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers College.

Edward Cilli, president, asked the committee of John Shovlin and John Uccellini, who were appointed at the January meeting to study the possibility of a new centralized elementary school, to also gather data on the cost of remodeling the present grade schools.

The figures would be used only for a comparison, primarily on the 1st and 7th St. Schools, since the 4th St. School only recently was repainted and repaired.

A LETTER was forwarded to James Migliore, co-chairman of the Midland Holiday Basketball Tournament, urging the implementation of a suggested plan of reorganization.

The plan, proposed by Supt. Edgar Richards, calls for the naming of a permanent tournament board and executive committee, officers, and two co-chairmen.

The board also set a meeting for Friday evening to interview candidates for the position of athletic director.

Richards said there were two candidates for the job, vacated last year by Henry Kuzma, basketball coach.

CILLI, AS president of the school board, signed a request of Richards to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and tion to counter further major Viet Cong attacks.

Dirksen, supporting Johnson's actions, said the President "will do what is necessary" to contain the Communists in South Viet Nam.

Although Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, told the Senate Monday that the time is here for "a full-scale inquiry into security precautions and the lack of them in Viet Nam," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana cautioned against hasty investigations.

"I doubt that it would be wise to move into any investigation at such a critical point in international affairs," Mansfield said in an interview.

Although many members of Congress backed the President, there were voices raised against what some members regarded as a collision course with the Communists that might threaten nuclear war.

Rep. John V. Lindsay of New York, a leader of House Republican liberals, called on Johnson to take the initiative in preventing "this miserable war" in Viet Nam from involving "the entire globe in a conflict of arms."

He said he wasn't proposing that "we pick up and walk out of Viet Nam tomorrow morning" but was suggesting that "heads of state display some willingness to communicate with each other" to prevent the spreading of the war.

'Have To Be Repaid,' Peking Says Of Raids

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China has hurled the threat of retaliation for U.S. and South Vietnamese air strikes against North Viet Nam.

It came in an editorial in the Peking People's Daily which said the air attacks "have to be repaid."

"We warn U.S. imperialism... we are waiting for you in battle array. If you insist on imposing the war on us, heavy reburbs are in store for you," the paper said.

"Debts are debts and they must be repaid. When debts accumulate, they will have to be repaid at compound interest rates," the editorial said. It was broadcast by the New China News Agency.

Earlier, a Peking government statement said "aggression by the United States" against North Viet Nam means "aggression against China."

"China and Viet Nam are closely related like the lips and the teeth," the statement said. It was broadcast by Radio Peking.

The New China News Agency reported that "hundreds of thousands" of demonstrators, including foreign students, staged mass rallies in Peking for the second day to protest the raids.

The Soviet Union urged the United States to stop the attacks. It made no direct threat of retaliation but said such raids would force the Soviet Union and its allies "to take further measures to safeguard the security and to strengthen the defense capability" of North Viet Nam.

Soviet newspapers said Washington would make an "irreparable mistake" if it ignored the Soviet warnings. The papers called the American explanation for the raid monstrous, cynical and clumsy. Pravda, the Communist Party paper, claimed they had been planned "long before last weekend."

The newspapers also reported Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's renewed pledge of Soviet assistance to North Viet Nam. He made it in a speech in Hanoi Monday.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union, Red China and North Viet Nam did not want war, but it was their duty to help Communist nations.

U.S. Embassy Torn By Mobs In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—About 1,000 demonstrators hurled rocks and smashed windows of the U.S. Embassy today and smeared the building with green and blue ink in a protest against U.S. air raids on North Viet Nam.

The crowd surged past a thin line of police. Most of the embassy windows on the ground

McBride Urges County's Action For New College

A Community College would permit many Columbiana County young people to obtain higher education which they would not otherwise receive, County School Supt. J. L. McBride said today in urging action on obtaining such a college.

McBride said a survey taken among county juniors and sophomores five years ago indicated only 35-40 per cent of college preparatory students could afford to go away to a college or university.

HE SAID 75 per cent of those contacted said they would attend a two-year junior college if there were one in the county. "This would mean that instead of 25-30 per cent of our students attending college, we would have around 50-60 per cent," McBride said.

He pointed out county commissioners recently adopted a resolution creating a county Community College School District, a preliminary move to obtaining such a facility.

McBride explained a community college comprises a regular liberal arts college program for the first two college years. Students then transfer into a junior or third year of a regular college or university.

HE SAID such a program helps to alleviate the crowded conditions of our universities and colleges, and aids students who cannot afford the tuition or living expenses away from home.

A college could also provide technical training programs to aid students preparing for such fields needing only one- or two-year training. These include engineering technology, architectural drafting, law enforcement, commercial art, data processing, retailing, X-ray technologist, practical nursing, dental and medical lab assistants, executive secretaries and others.

A third valuable service of a junior college would be a developmental or remedial program for students who had limited success in high school but with maturity, feel they can better themselves.

YOUNG PEOPLE who ranked in the lower half of their high school graduating class could have a try at higher education, technical or vocational training. Adult evening vocational and cultural programs would also be available under the junior college plan, possibly offering courses in psychology, philosophy, and second floor were smashed. Some in the crowd hung anti-American signs on the seven-foot iron picket fence in front of the building.

The disorders closely followed the pattern of previous demonstrations. This time, most of the demonstrators appeared to be Moscow University students.

Witnesses said the small detachment of police appeared to be making no effort to restrain the rock throwers.

The demonstrators marched up to the nine-story embassy building in orderly, well-drilled columns.

They carried Vietnamese and Soviet flags, and handmade posters denouncing the American retaliatory raids.

A short time before their arrival, embassy guards closed and locked heavy iron gates leading to the embassy courtyard.

The embassy, which had received indications of a demonstration, had informed the Soviet Foreign Ministry and asked for police protection. Moscow police arrived in response to the call and strung out on the sidewalk in front of the embassy.

Off-duty U.S. Marines were called to man the entry gates.

Senators Clash Over President At Slippery Rock

HARRISBURG (AP) — The controversy over selection of a new president for Slippery Rock State College boiled over Monday in the Senate.

The issue came before the chamber when Sen. Donald O. Oesterling, D-Butler, introduced a resolution which urged Gov. Scranton to appoint Dr. John Edwards Jr. as the new president.

Edwards has been acting president for almost a year now, but he was bypassed by a special committee appointed by the college trustees to recommend a new head for the school.

The committee, instead, nominated Dr. Robert S. Carter of Denison University of Granville, Ohio, and the board sent the recommendation to Scranton to present to the Senate.

Oesterling, one of Edwards' boosters, argued that the faculty and the student body were overwhelmingly in favor of the acting president.

"I would question the ethics involved in the sub-rosa committee appointed by the board," Oesterling told the Senate. "Why wasn't the faculty allowed to name a committee who could speak for them?"

Sen. Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, whose former senatorial district included Butler County, arose in defense of the committee selection.

"Denison is one of the top liberal arts colleges in the United States," he said. "I'm sure they (the committee) were trying to get the finest president they could."

Oesterling's resolution was referred to the Senate Education Committee.

Vote Blocks Appointment At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A move to fill a vacant Council post lost by one vote Monday night.

Councilman Gillis Earl proposed Ed Kellogg of West End, a retired coal mine foreman, for the post from which Don Lewis had resigned in January.

Councilwoman Kate Weaver second the motion, and both, along with Councilman Warren Dunlap, voted in favor of Kellogg. However, Councilman Eugene Jarvis was opposed, and Councilman Howard abstained from voting, and the necessary four favoring votes was not achieved.

Mayor Stanley Fitch, who is now eligible to appoint a councilman, agreed to wait until the next meeting Feb. 22 to permit Council to consider other candidates for the post.

Council authorized the purchase of a second-hand tar kettle for street patching work from Ed Brammer of Salineville at a cost of $450. The 170-gallon device with two burners and pump is 2 years old, and was inspected by Fitch, Dunlap and Earl Saturday.

The mayor was authorized to purchase 12 parking ban signs and posts for erection at intersections of Main St. and a "No U-Turn" sign for the intersection of Foundry Hill Rd. and Main St.

The signs are to help eliminate traffic congestion.

Mayor Fitch reported on two estimates received for replacing the faulty boiler heating unit at the fire station. The Smith Heating Co. of Wellsville offered $1,150 for a coal unit and $950 for a gas - fired boiler. Freeman Strabley of Salineville bid $745 for a coal unit.

Strabley will be asked to explain details of his bid at the next meeting.

Police Chief Earl Laney submitted a report for police activities Dec. 15 to Jan. 15. He patrolled 1,369 miles, issued 17 warnings, made four traffic arrests, received six dog complaints and six stolen property reports and investigated 14 domestic incidents.

Bricks Date Back To 3rd Century B.C.

GROSSETO, Italy (AP) — The earliest known Etruscan houses built of bricks have been uncovered at nearby Roselle.

Archaeologists say they date back to the third century B.C. The bricks were sun-baked, not oven-baked, and were joined together with liquid clay.

Other Etruscan houses found up to now have been of stone blocks. Later ones, built after the Romans took over the Etruscan cities, were of Roman oven-baked brick.

In Filing Of Tax Return

Changes In Deductions Discussed

It used to be that if you damaged your car in an accident, and your insurance didn't cover it, you could claim the damage as an income tax deduction. That rule has been changed. Following is the second of five special articles explaining changes and procedures in the income tax.

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're going to itemize deductions in order to take all you can in filing your 1964 income tax return, remember Congress made a number of changes in what you can and can't deduct.

In the past you could deduct fully for personal losses from theft or casualty, like a storm that damaged your house or an accident that damaged your car, if it wasn't covered by insurance.

Now you can deduct only what is above the first $100 of loss in each occurrence — never for insurance-covered loss. And if an accident damaging your car was due to your own willfulness, you can't deduct at all.

Car owners won't find much comfort in this change.

People whose 65th birthday was as late as Jan. 1, 1965 can deduct fully their medical and medicine costs. Before 1964 they could deduct all medical costs but only that part of their medicine and drug bill above one per cent of their income.

Further, if you provide more than half the support of over-65 parents — even though they might have had $600 income of their own and you therefore can't claim them as dependents — you can deduct the parents' medical and medicine costs in full. The test is whether you paid more than half their support.

This doesn't go for under-65 people. For them the law is unchanged. For medicine and drug expenses they deduct only what exceeds one per cent of income and then only when it is added to medical expenses which are not deductible until they exceed three per cent of income.

Anyone can deduct transportation costs for going to get medical care, like bus, train, taxi or plane fare or the cost of gas, oil, and parking. You still can. But —

Now, if you use your own car going to get medical care, you can deduct a flat five cents a mile instead of gas and oil costs.

And there's this that's new: If you give your services free to a qualified charitable organization — and use your automobile in doing so — you can deduct five cents a mile for its use, instead of actual out-of-pocket expenses, as in the past.

And this is new: If your employer transferred you or you went to work for a new employer you may be able to deduct moving and travel expenses for you and your family but under two conditions:

You work at least 39 weeks out of the first year in the new job or some other job you got later in the same area and your new job in relation to your old residence is at least 20 miles farther than the distance between your old residence and your old job.

If you sold your home on or after your 65th birthday for $20,000 or less, you pay no tax on any profit made. That's new. And a partial exemption is provided for profit on higher-priced houses.

But you must have owned and used your home as your principal residence for five out of the past eight years before the sale.

If you are itemizing deductions, you may need far more detailed advice than there is room for here. If that's the case, then here are two suggestions:

Carefully examine the instruction sheet sent taxpayers by the Internal Revenue Service or at the nearest IRS office for 50 cents buy the government's 159-page booklet: "Your Federal Income Tax."

Generally, no one any longer can deduct as a personal expense the cost of auto tags, a driver's license, poll taxes, the tax on alcoholic beverages, or tobacco, or the tax on hotel bills or tickets to sports events or theaters.

Until now you could exclude from taxable income dividends up to $50 a year—$100 for married couples if each had at least $50 of dividend income — and you could subtract from your income tax four per cent of dividends received above the $50 or $100 deduction.

Now you can exclude $100 in dividends—$200 if married and each has dividend income—but above that you can deduct from your tax only two per cent of your dividends.

Until now you could exempt from taxation $100 a week of sick pay after you had been sick a week. And you could deduct the $100 in that first week if your had been injured or hospitalized. Not any more.

Now you can't deduct anything for the first seven days of illness unless you were hospitalized at least one day in that time.

Nor can you deduct anything for the first 30 days of illness unless your sick pay in that period was no more than 75 per cent of your regular pay, even though you were injured or hospitalized. If 75 per cent or less, you can exclude up to $75 for the first 30 days.

Example: If you continued to receive your regular pay that first 30 days you can deduct none of it.

But if you were out sick more than 30 days you can exclude after 30 days $100 of your weekly rate of pay received without worry about percentage limits. Here are some examples of those limits within the first 30 days:

But suppose your regular pay was $120, your sick pay $91 each week. The $91 is more than 75 per cent of $120. Therefore, in the first 30 days you could exclude none of it.

Or, suppose your regular pay was $100, your sick pay $75 a week. You could exclude all $75 since that happens to be 75 per cent of $100 and is no more than the 75 limit. But, if your sick pay each week you were off was $76, you could exclude none of it because $76 is more than 75 per cent of $100.

One more example: If you earned $80 a week and your sick pay was as much as $60, you could exclude all of it, since $60 is 75 per cent of $80. But if that sick pay had been $61 each week, which is more than 75 per cent of $80, you could exclude none of it.

There's been a change on deductions for child care, and it works this way:

You may, under certain circumstances, deduct for a maid or sitter or private school costs for a child if you are a woman—single, married, divorced or deserted—who must work outside the home.

You can deduct for such care for a child up to $3 or up to any age if it is physically or mentally defective. The child doesn't have to be your own but you must be able to claim it as a dependent.

The deduction limit for this child care is $600 for one child or a maximum of $900 for two or more children cared for. But there can be a lot of ifs, ands, and buts if this problem, even resulting, in the case of a married couple, is wiping out the deduction under some circumstances.

Hankish Escapes Any Revocation In Parole Action

CHARLESTON (AP) — The West Virginia Board of Probation and Parole Monday found Paul N. Hankish of Wheeling guilty of parole violations, but ruled the violations "do not constitute sufficient cause" for revocation of his parole.

Hankish was found innocent of five of eight parole violation charges against him, including charges he frequented Ohio County gambling establishments. The board said Wheeling Police Chief Louis Kulp supported its findings.

However, Hankish was found guilty of two of the charges and part of a third.

Hankish was paroled after serving 13 months of a 1-to-10-year term on a breaking and entering charge which stemmed from the attempted safecracking of a Fairmont supermarket in 1961.

Principal's Session Draws 5 From Area

Five area elementary school principals attended the Ohio Elementary Principals' meeting which ended Saturday at Columbus.

The future of elementary principals was discussed at the three-day session. The principals were told what will be expected of them in the 1970's.

Beautify U.S. Appeal Raises Cost Question

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's program to clean up the nation's waterways and air was greeted warmly in Congress today but some members raised the question of cost.

The far-flung proposals submitted to Congress in a special message Monday cut across the jurisdiction of several committees, one of which geared itself for prompt action.

Rep. George H. Fallon, D-Md., chairman of the House Public Works Committee, said he was "favorably disposed" toward the program and assumed much of it would come before his committee.

A subcommittee headed by Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., tentatively has scheduled hearings for next week on a water pollution bill already passed by the Senate. Fallon said the water measure may be made the vehicle for carrying other phases of the program.

Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida, senior Republican on Fallon's committee, wanted to know, "Where is the money coming from?"

Dukes Upset Wichita Five; Wolves Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, has defeated upstart Iowa while fifth-ranked Davidson has shattered West Virginia's streak-stopping stunt.

Michigan, 14-2, whipped Iowa 81-66 Monday night only hours after the Wolverines again had been voted the top team in the country in The Associated Press poll. Davidson, 19-1, crushed West Virginia 103-80 in its 18th consecutive victory, its longest streak in the nation.

Three other members of the Top Ten—seventh-ranked Vanderbilt, eighth-ranked Indiana and Illinois, No. 10—won, but Wichita, No. 9, was upset by Duquesne 75-72.

Michigan extended its Big Ten record to 6-0 by stopping Iowa, a stubborn team that went into the crucial contest already having achieved three major conquests.

The Hawkeyes knocked off Minnesota 76-74, Indiana 74-68 and UCLA 87-82, each team having only one other defeat at the time. All three also were ranked in the Top Ten with UCLA falling from the No. 1 spot because of the loss 10 days ago.

But Michigan made sure it would not be the next victim by scoring 19 straight points midway through the first half and keeping the Hawkeyes scoreless for eight minutes, 14 seconds. That combination erased an early Iowa lead.

Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the Wolverines' dreaded duo, tallied 19 points each. Gerry Jones, a high school teammate of Russell, led Iowa with 26 points, 17 in the second half.

Davidson went into its game with the Mountaineers well aware of the outcome of the teams' second meeting last season. West Virginia won that one 75-73, ending the Wildcats' unbeaten string at 15 games.

But Davidson's sizzling shooting, sparked by Fred Hetzel, completely overwhelmed the Southern Conference foe. The Wildcats connected on 53.9 per cent of their shots from the field with Hetzel pouring in 34.

Vanderbilt won its eighth straight Southeastern Conference contest, 96-85 over Louisiana State, while Indiana topped Michigan State 112-94 and Illinois swept by Ohio State 86-71.

Top Ten teams not scheduled Monday were UCLA, No. 2; St. Joseph's, No. 3; Providence, No. 4, and Duke, No. 6.

Those four plus Michigan and Davidson retained their rankings from last week. Vanderbilt advanced two notches, Indiana and Wichita each slipped one and Illinois replaced San Francisco.

The Top Ten, based on games through Saturday, Feb. 6, and total points:

1. Michigan	346
2. UCLA	309
3. St. Joseph's, Pa.	276
4. Providence	265
5. Davidson	200
6. Duke	158
7. Vanderbilt	105
8. Indiana	100
9. Wichita	99
10. Illinois	36

Cards Deal Crow For Abe Woodson

ST. LOUIS (AP) — John David Crow, who has charged for a lot of yardage on the football field, figures a step backward occasionally will give a runner enough room to move two steps forward.

He feels the same way about being traded to San Francisco. Moving from the contending St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League to the last-place 49ers normally is no gain, but Crow feels like he's just scored a touchdown.

The Cardinals traded him Monday to the 49ers in return for defensive cornerback and kickoff return specialist Abe Woodson.

"It's what I had been hoping for," said the injury-plagued

Crow, who had threatened to quit football if he was not traded. He felt he did not play enough last season.

"I certainly appreciate what the Cardinals have done for me. Now I hope to give Frisco a lift for a couple of years."

The change probably means more time on the field for Crow, who still managed to lead the Cardinals in rushing last season with 554 yards, although he averaged only 3.4 yards per carry.

For Woodson, it may mean less time on the field. An All-Pro five consecutive years, injuries sidelined him several games last season.

Woodson led the league in kickoff returns in 1959, 1962 and 1963.

4 Games On District Card

Midland Will Visit Monaca Tonight, Oak Glen Plays Host To Benwood

Midland shoots for its eighth straight in Section 8 and Oak Glen opens a busy week on its home court tonight in two of four games on tap for local cage teams.

Coach Hask Kuzma will take his undefeated cagers to Monaca tonight where the Indians have a 5-2 mark in league play. Midland owns a previous victory over Monaca on the Leopard court.

After tonight, Midland only has two games remaining, one with Beaver next Tuesday and the finale at New Brighton, Feb. 19. New Brighton is the only team at present that could possibly tie Midland with the Lions showing a 6-1 mark.

Benwood Union, a team that defeated Oak Glen last month, is the first of three teams to visit the Golden Bears floors this week.

After Benwood, Oak Glen, carrying a 6-7 record, will meet Wellsburg Friday and Morgantown on Saturday.

Western Beaver with a 2-5 Section 8 record visits New Brighton tonight in another contest while South Side must visit Coraopolis which leads Section 22 with a 10-0 record.

Electrocuted On Campus

Utah Stage Cager Killed After Playing Best Game

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Wayne Estes, the first Utah State University basketball player to score more than 2,000 points, was electrocuted Monday night after playing what he said was the best game of his career.

Estes, 21, was killed less than two hours after the game against Denver University when he grabbed a high-voltage wire knocked from a metal pole during a car accident on a corner of the Utah State campus.

Teammate Tim Smith said Estes discovered the accident

as he returned on foot from calling his mother to tell her about the game in which he set an Aggie home-court record.

Estes, a 6-foot-6 senior, scored 48 points to lead Utah State to a 91-62 victory over Denver University, boosting his college total to 2,001 points.

Aggie Coach Ladell Anderson called time out while more than 4,900 fans gave him a standing ovation.

"That was the best I ever played in my college career," Estes said after the game.

Logan police said three other Utah State students were injured in the automobile accident.

They said the students' car struck an island and slammed into the metal utility pole — knocking loose a high-tension wire.

Police Chief Eli Drakulich said an ambulance had removed the three students when Estes found the accident.

Drakulich said attendants from a second ambulance attempted for a half-hour to revive the basketball star. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Estes, who wanted to play professionally, has said he received encouragement from several pro basketball clubs. He said the Los Angeles Lakers were "very interested."

Anderson had called the 225-pound Estes the "greatest scorer I ever coached, and the finest basketball player to get along with."

Estes' highest one-game score was 52 points against Boston College during the Rainbow Classic earlier this season in Hawaii.

Estes had set an Aggie record of 42 straight free throws from the foul line.

"I shot at least 25 free throws every day last summer," he explained. "I scored 155 straight at one time."

Estes was the nation's second-leading major college scorer this season behind Rick Barry of Miami, Fla. A forward, Estes was averaging 32.7 points through games of Jan. 30. He finished 10th in scoring last season with a 28.3 mark.

Before coming to Utah State, Estes also was a star football and track performer in high school in Anaconda, Mont., his home town.

Downes Quits Boxing Game, Throws Party

LONDON (AP) — Colorful Terry Downes, Britain's former co-holder of the world middleweight championship, has quit boxing with a flourish to become a full-time betting magnate.

The 28-year-old one-time American Marine called it a career Monday at a swank party at London's Hilton Hotel.

His shrewd investment of ring earnings estimated at $420,000 has made him an executive of a firm that owns 45 legal book-making shops and the owner of a $98,000 showcase home.

Downes cited failure to secure a light-heavyweight title fight with champion Willie Pastrano as a major reason for his retirement after 45 pro bouts, of which he won 35.

Downes, whose last fight was a losing title bid against Pastrano last November, said the champion "stated his terms and they left so little for me it was impossible. Pastrano priced himself right out of the fight."

"We were unable to make a world middleweight fight against Joe Giardello. And so, the two incidents together made up my mind to retire."

Downes returned to England from the United States in 1957 after a three-year Marine hitch and won the British middleweight championship 18 months and 20 fights later. He captured a piece of the split world title by defeating Paul Pender in 1961 but lost a return to Pender the next year.

He is ranked sixth among world middleweight challengers.

Association Sets Bowling Tourney Date

The City Association bowling tournament will begin April 3 at Terrace Lanes.

Plans for the event were completed Sunday when the East Liverpool Bowling Association met at the YMCA, with 32 officers and league representatives present.

The team event for the tourney will be run off the weekends of April 3-4 and April 10-11. After the Easter weekend, the singles and doubles will be held April 24-25 and May 1-2.

The closing date for entries to the tournament will be midnight March 20.

The rules and regulations for the event were drawn up at Sunday's meeting.

Prior to the business session, George Laneve screened two films, "Fun On The Lanes," an American Junior Bowling Congress film, and "Ten Pin Showcase," the background and story of the 1961 ABC tournament in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

The association's next meeting will be March 28 at the YMCA.

Lima Is New Cage Leader, Bulldogs 2nd

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Associated Press high school basketball poll had new leaders today as the season-long pacesetters were swept from the top in each division.

Lima Shawnee, which has challenged Canton McKinley for the lead in each previous rating, finally went around the Bulldogs in Class AA. And in the smaller school division, Lakeside suffered its first defeat and surrendered the top rung to Celina Immaculate Conception.

McKinley's fall came as a slight surprise, for the Bulldogs had just registered their third 15-game winning streak in three years by belting Akron South 64-57. But Shawnee, in a battle of the unbeaten, handed Piqua its first loss in 15 games by 90 to 74 to sway the 55 sports editors who cast ballots in the weekly ratings.

Some of the voters are not convinced the Shawnee and McKinley teams are tops. Eight of the 23 newspapermen ignored one or the other on their ballots, and two failed to give either a point. McKinley, along with five blanks from newspapers, failed to get a mention from 10 of the 32 radio-television stations, and Shawnee was passed by seven. Thus Canton was missing from 15 of the 55 ballots, and Shawnee from 12.

The newspaper boys had McKinley ahead 139 to 129 in poll points on the 10-9-8-etc basis, but the radio-television group favored the Lima team by 166 to 133 — giving Shawnee a 295 to 272 edge for the lead. Last week McKinley was in front by 330 to 290 over Urbana, and Shawnee had 265.

Although beaten twice, Celina ICHS grabbed the Class A lead as Lakeside was beaten for the first time in 14 games, 58-56 by Northwood's six-time losers.

Piqua clung to 10th place despite its loss to Shawnee, but the other Class AA top 10 teams moved around. Youngstown Boardman, winner of 15, jumped from ninth to sixth for the biggest change.

In Class A the big surprise was furnished by Batavia, a 16-game winner. A week ago the club was 13th, but it hopped to fifth this time. Cincinnati Country Day also moved into the elite list, taking eighth, as Chillicothe Flaget and Clay of Scioto County fell by the wayside.

From here and there: Logan Elm won the Scioto Valley conference with 5-0. Youngstown Boardman has averaged 93 points in its last three games and Jim Geller—who hit for 25 against South—is the big gun. SRandy Cable of Jackson (Stark County) finally did it. Three times he's tied the school record of 30 points, and Friday night he came up with 33 to whip Canton South 69-64. Massillon held Alliance to a single point in the last quarter as the Tigers won 50-37.

Portsmouth's all - Ohio Larry

Hisle is still going strong. He scored 34 in the 85-75 win over Huntington, W.Va.

Hamilton Taft, with eight straight, made it to 13-2 by handing hometown Garfield on 81-64 setback — but Garfield is top team in the rugged Greater Ohio League. Mansfield Senior clinched the Buckeye Conference title by smothering Lorain 90-56, with 12 Tigers scoring.

East Liverpool received six points in this week's voting in the Ohio High School basketball poll. The Potters have a 10-5 record.

Players Stage Practice Session In Houston's New Indoor Center

HOUSTON (AP) — The curve curves, the knuckler dances and the ball carries off the bat just as normally as it would outdoors.

That was the verdict of the baseball players who held a practice session in Houston's new $31.6-million multi-purpose Harris County Domes Stadium Monday.

It was the historic first test of most of the mechanics of baseball on a regulation field indoors.

Ohio State, Cincy Drop League Tilts

By The Associated Press

Ohio State and Cincinnati continued to take their lumps in intersectional battles, and Miami's Redskins continued on the warpath by scalping neighborhood rival Xavier in the highlights of the state's college basketball schedule Monday night.

Illinois stayed in contention for the Big Ten title—one game behind Michigan—by whipping Ohio State, 86-71. Bradley put five scorers in double figures and smashed Cincinnati, 85-69.

For these two usually strong contenders, it has been a long season.

But at Miami things were different. It was a happy 42nd birthday for coach Dick Shriver as his Redskins lead from the opening buzzer for a 97-68 for the visitors from nearby Cincinnati.

The victory stretched Miami's season record to 15-3.

Five Redskins tallied in double figures, led by Jerry Piersen's career high of 22 points. Charley Coles dumped in 21, Jeff Gehring and John Swann added 13 each and Jim Patterson had 10. Xavier, plagued by the absence of its two top men, Steve Thomas and Ben Cooper, went down to its 11th defeat against nine victories. Jim Hengehold led the Musketeers with 21.

At Columbus, Illinois broke open a tight battle midway through the last half with 12 straight points and won easily from there.

Senior guard Tal Brody and center Skip Thoren sparked the winning drive, finishing with 24 and 27 points, respectively. The winning Illini, now 5-1 in the conference and 13-3 overall, finished with a hot 54 per cent to just 39 per cent for the Buckeyes, who were paced by Ron Sepic's 19. Ohio, which has won or tied five straight Big Ten play and 8-8 overall.

Cincinnati got into foul trouble early in the game at Peoria in losing their sixth conference start in nine games. The Bearcats outscored Bradley 30-39 from the field but cannot only 9 of 13 free throws to 27 of 34 for the Braves.

Eleven straight points by Toledo's Rockets in the late stages iced their intersectional battle against Portland, 74-65.

Tough Steubenville romped to its 15th victory in 18 games, leading all the way to defeat Youngstown on the road, 62-49.

In the closest game of the night, John Carroll edged Bethany in the President's Athletic Conference, 85-84, on two foul shots by substitute guard Jim Flanagan with 19 seconds left.

And Lincoln of Missouri hit 56 per cent of its shots to easily whip Wilberforce, 104-90, at Jefferson City, Mo.

Canton Calls On FBI To Join Fire Probes

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — FBI help has been enlisted in the investigation of three apparent cases of arson at unoccupied houses here in the past week. Arson is not a federal offense, but city officials Monday asked the FBI laboratory in Washington to examine physical evidence from the fires.

Explosions preceded the fires at two of the houses. The first fire was last Wednesday, the second was Friday night and the latest was Sunday night.

Most of West Virginia's 1965 football rivals are old foes. Pitt was first met in 1895, Virginia in 1898, Penn State in 1904, Kentucky in 1905, Virginia Tech in 1919 and George Washington in 1920.

It was warm, cloudy, misty and damp outdoors. Even so the ball was visible under the dome and the daylight seemed slightly better, if anything, than it was outside.

Then the lights went up, and the arena bloomed in all of its color and brightness and size.

Even Houston Astro General Manager Paul Richards was somewhat amazed.

"Baseball will be exhibited better in this stadium than it ever has been," Richards said.

"The players are going to be able to do a better job and the fans will see it better. With the elements ruled out, the game will be played as it was intended to be played, under perfect conditions."

"Playing in this stadium will be just like playing in any other park on a calm clear day," said outfielder Al Spangler.

From the hitter's standpoint, Bob Aspromonte of the Astros testified:

"No big difference from outdoors, no problems. You're going to have to hit the ball to get it out of there. The ball isn't going to jump, and it isn't going to be dead."

Rusty Staub became the first player to hit home runs in the park with its 340-foot foul lines and a 406-foot depth to center field.

But none of the batters came close to hitting the permanent dome that towers 207 feet, 10 inches above second base—a ceiling tall enough to shield an 18-story building.

Casper Eyes Phoenix Open On Next Stop

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The hottest golfer on the pro tour, Bill Casper Jr., and defending champion Jack Nicklaus loom as the men to beat in the $67,500 Phoenix Open Tournament.

The 72-hole tournament begins Thursday, preceded by pro-am competition on Wednesday.

Casper, fresh from a stirring victory in the $100,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic at Palm Springs, Calif., poses a definite threat to Nicklaus' bid for a second straight title.

Casper won the Phoenix event in 1957 on the same Arizona Country Club course, a 6,584-yard, par-72 desert layout recently revamped.

Nicklaus closed fast last year to win the Phoenix Open at Phoenix Country Club and break a three-year reign by Arnold Palmer.

An Eastern speaking engagement and business commitments will cause Palmer to miss the Phoenix tourney for the first time in 11 years.

Nicklaus was only four strokes off Casper's pace at Palm Springs, and his final-day 69 indicated he may be ready to make his move.

Fischer Named Head Of Walker Cup Team

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Fischer of Cincinnati said he was named Monday he has been named captain of the 1965 U. S. Walker Cup team by the U. S. Golf Association. Fischer is a former national amateur golf champion. He is 53 and has played on Walker Cup teams in 1934, 1936 and 1938.

The Walker Cup competition is held every two years between amateur teams from the U. S. and Great Britain. It will be held this year at Baltimore. The British have won only once since its inception.

Dick Howser Signs Contract With Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Shortstop Dick Howser has signed his 1965 contract with the Cleveland Indians, General Manager Gabe Paul announced today. He was the 23rd player on the Tribe roster to agree to terms for the coming season.

Howser, 27, who was Rookie of the Year in 1961, was sidelined by leg trouble much of the 1963 season, but played in all but two of the Indians' 162 games last year. He had a .256 batting average and led the club in runs with 101 and hits with 163.

Lead Remains Unchanged In Church Loop

There were no changes among the leaders in the YMCA-Church League over the weekend as First United Presbyterian won its fifth straight in the Collegiate Division and St. John's Lutheran did likewise in the Inter-Collegiate Loop.

LaCroft Nazarene with a 4-0 mark in the Collegiate play and Chester First Christian with an identical mark in the other league drew byes last week.

First U. P. handed First Methodist a 21-15 setback with Bob Flint's nine points pacing the leaders. Floyd Cranston, Benton Conley and Dick Cochran had four each for the losers.

Oakland Free Methodist was a 15-10 winner over First Nazarene with Mike Lane and Russell Adkins scoring seven each. Dan Skidmore's eight points topped First Nazarene.

Trinity U. P. stormed past Chester Nazarene, 22-10 as Jim Lowe tossed in eight points to pace the victory. Dave Dugan and Randy Robinson scored four each for Chester.

Rick Eckles poured in 19 points to carry Grace U. P. to a 36-10 victory over First Christian. Alan Shaffer tallied four for the losers.

With Bill Montgomery hooping 18 points, St. John's had an easy time in a 35-16 victory over Wellsville Methodist. Dick Whitman scored six points for Wellsville.

Calvary Methodist won its fourth game in five starts by outlasting St. Stephen's, 18-15. Joe March fashioned Calvary's attack with seven points and Dave Mason scored 11 of St. Stephen's 15 points.

Chester First Methodist nipped Boyce Methodist, 14-13 with Allan Collins and Alan Forsythe scoring four each. Dick Thayer pumped in nine points for the Boyce five.

Orchard Grove gained a 23-14 victory over Second U. P. with George Manning firing in 10 points. Tom Gooding's 10 markers featured for Second U. P.

Lady Grid Club Plans Projects

Plans for several projects, including a rummage sale May 10-12, were discussed at a meeting of the Lady Potter Football Boosters Monday night at the YMCA.

The group also will hold a tag day Sept. 11. In addition to the rummage sale, a bake sale and lunch sale also were discussed.

The club held a white elephant sale at Monday's meeting and a Valentine theme was used.

Mrs. Juanita Clendenning, president, presided. Lunch was served by Mrs. Phyllis Marchbanks and her committee.

Cassius Gets OK To Fight In May

By BOB HOOBING

Associated Press Sports Writer BOSTON (AP) — Will Cassius make hay with Sonny in May?

Or will Clay as soon meet Liston in June?

That's the extent of the rhyme.

There was none but a perfunctory reason for a news conference Monday announcing the medical go-ahead for the heavyweight champion to resume training for his delayed title defense.

The scheduled Nov. 16, 1964, fight, postponed when Clay underwent emergency Friday-the-13th surgery for a hernia, likely will be at Boston Garden on a Monday night between May 10 and June 7.

Anyone who saw Cassius huddling over the top rope at Madison Square Garden a week ago to congratulate Floyd Patterson on his victory over George Chuvalo knew then The Mouth's lower abdomen was A-OK.

In order to underscore his comeback from the scalpel, the champion shadow-boxed four rounds in street clothes with heavyweight Tom McNeely at a local gym Monday after he was pronounced fit.

While the Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., folks turned various shades of fright, Cassius also punched the heavy and light bags bare-handed.

After expressing relief that a Denver jury recently acquitted Sonny Liston of a drunken-driving charge, Clay started his ticket-selling war by commenting:

"For a man who never gets knocked down, Liston sure gets picked up a lot, doesn't he?"

Dr. William McDermott, the surgeon in charge of Clay's case, termed the champ's condition "excellent" and said "at this point he may resume all activities including heavy exercise and strenuous training."

Harold Conrad of Intercontinental said the target date for the fight is May 10. Clay wondered if it might not take as many as four months to get ready, recalling he has promised a special exhibition for a Negro businessmen's cause in Chicago Feb. 27.

Manager Angelo Dundee said it was impossible to tell how long it will take Clay to get ready.

The conclusion was the fight would be held in from three to four months from now, and for the availability of the maximum number of buildings for closed-circuit TV, Monday almost certainly will be the night.

Lakers Hold Wilt To 16

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The vaunted powers of Wilt Chamberlain, newly acquired by the Philadelphia 76ers, were stunted in National Basketball Association play here when the Lakers held the 7-foot-1 superstar to 16 points.

The Lakers won 117-98 Monday night and broke a four-game losing streak with the effort. No other games were scheduled.

And, to risk a pun, pro basketball has become hazardous for Walt Hazzard. In Monday night's game Hazzard and Al Bianchi fell to the floor fighting after Hazzard fouled the 76er player, who was driving in for a layup.

The fight was broken up quickly, however, and both players were ejected from the game.

Sunday afternoon in Boston, before a national television audience, Hazzard was involved in a scuffle with the Celtics' Tom Heinsohn on a similar play. Heinsohn punched the Laker rookie and was tossed out of the game.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Festival Strains International Peace

MONTE CARLO—How much improvement of international relations was left in the wake of the TV festival held here is not easy to measure. It's possible, on the other hand, that there have been some ruptures which are beyond patching by U Thant or anyone else.

For example, Hal Humphrey, the Russian jury member and his interpreter and wife, in a fit of coexistence, sent a bottle of vodka and a peasant doll to my wife and me. Then, in an effort to reciprocate with something equally "American," my exuberant spouse gave the Russians some candy and three new Kennedy half dollars.

WELL, THE NEXT morning our greeting to the Russians was met with almost icy reserve. They gave us the big "merci beaucoup," but sort of looked right through us as they did so.

I suggested to my wife that maybe the Kennedy half dollars conjured up a memory of the big Russian backoff over Cuba and, hence, our gift was political rather than nationalistic or cultural as were the doll and the vodka.

"That's just tough," she replied, and I suddenly visualized her sitting in Ambassador Stevenson's chair at the United Nations, beating her spiked heels on the desk.

After eight straight days of viewing TV programs from 29 different countries, I am surprised the 15 jury members are so congenial toward one another as they are. There were no eyeball-to-eyeball confrontations at any rate.

ONE DAY one of the three French jurors whispered to me, "Why are the Germans always doing programs about other countries?"

His tone was definitely derisive. Later the German said to me, after seeing a French documentary on Indochina, "Ach! Just another war film!"

If Erhard and De Gaulle are going to reach any kind of genuine rapprochement, they will have to do so over the heads of the aforementioned TV jurors.

Another of the Frenchmen, who apparently has gone further in his recognition of Red China than De Gaulle, asked the Czechoslovakian juror point-blank why his country was submitting TV programs to this bourgeois and decadent festival reigned over by a prince with an American wife from capitalist Philadelphia.

MY FRENCH is not quick enough, so I didn't catch all of the Czech's reply, but it had a nice ring to it and ended up something like, "Where the heck were you during the last war?"

This same militant Frenchman tackled our Romanian juror at a dinner party on another evening with obviously a big sales pitch, and I think I overheard the Romanian say, "Look, comrade, I'm already in the party."

Even my American colleague, Cleveland Amory, and I came to a split over the American documentary, "My Childhood," on the early lives of author James Baldwin and Vice President Hubert Humphrey. He didn't like it, and I did.

We didn't come to blows, or anything like that, and we thought our disagreement should be a good example to our fellow jurors on how democracy works.

I HAVE a feeling it did no such thing. The way the Hungarian looked at the Russian and they shrugged their shoulders, I could see they were asking each other, "How do you get along with two crazy Americans who can't agree with each other?"

Mme. Rossellini, wife of Renzo (our jury president), accomplished the diplomatic coup of the week. She got Sonia, the wife of the Russian interpreter, to promise to curtsy before Grace, if we saw her at the palace. Last year, it seems, Sonia refused.

As for me, I've come out of it pretty well, except for that buck and a half I'm out in Kennedy half dollars.

You Can 'Vet' On It, They'll Have Nurses

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Animals will have nurses some day, a Texas veterinarian says. Dr. Gerald Parker, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association, told the group Monday that in 5 to 10 years licensed animal nurses or animal technicians would be used by veterinarians.

Parker said such personnel would be similar to nurses in the medical profession.

How Can I?

Q.—Is there any way I can renovate old, hardened glue?

A.—Try placing a few drops of vinegar in the glue container.

Q.—How can I camouflage small nicks and chips in painted surfaces?

A.—Try using wax crayons for a patch job. They come in an almost endless variety of colors and hues, and can be selected to match any paint color. Rub lightly over the m a r r e d area, and this will both fill in and color the damaged spots in the painted surfaces.

Q.—How can I preserve the hard covers of books?

A.—Many libraries insure longer life in their books with shellac. You can do the same thing with your books by spraying the shellac on with one of the ready-to-use spray cans on the market.

"Big Inch" is a pipeline that runs 1,341 miles from Longview, Texas, to New Jersey, and is 24 inches in diameter. The U. S. built this pipeline in 1942 and 1943 to provide a safe method for transporting crude oil during World War II. A companion pipeline, the "Little Big Inch", was completed soon after, it being only 20 inches in diameter. Both pipelines were converted to natural-gas transportation in 1946.

The city of Key West, Florida, derives its name from the Spanish "cayo" (key) and "hueso" (bones) — and not from its geographical location, as some people suppose. Continental United States' southernmost city, Key West was once used as a battleground by prehistoric Indians whose bones were found scattered around the island.

THE LASER SENDS OUT ONE BEAM OF A SINGLE COLOR

BUT IT IS ENORMOUSLY BRIGHT

IT COULD DESTROY ENEMY MISSILES—

MANY PEACEFUL USES WILL BE FOUND

WONDER TOOL OF TODAY, THE LASER

QUESTION: What is a laser—what can it be used for?

ANSWER: The last few years have been ones of amazing progress in scientific discovery and invention. There was the discovery of atomic energy; then came the transistor, that tiny object which could do so many electrical jobs, allowing satellites and capsules to be crowded with electronic devices. Now we have the laser, another major development. Just what is it? Think of a beam of light from the sun or a lamp. In it are all kinds of colors, each vibrating at a different rate or frequency, as in (1). All these colors are interfering with each other, reducing each other's strength. In (2), inside the box, a ruby crystal is being subjected to a very strong burst of light—and the red rays burst out of it in one small beam which is free from the interference of other colors and frequencies. It darts out, doesn't spread around like light usually does, moves at 186,000 miles a second. Such beams may give a heat twice that of the sun. It is thought that laser beams could destroy missiles or knock out enemy planes out of the sky. Peaceful uses may be in communications in reaching out into space to find its secrets, in the fight against diseases and probably many others yet to be discovered.

FOR YOU TO DO: Lasers are so new that you may not find much about them in reference books. But keep a sharp eye open for mention of them in your newspaper, for this is where the up-to-date things first appear.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for "Outa My Mind," the gal whose husband stays out till all hours and "forgets" to telephone her.

This poor thing says she's been married only two years. Well, I've got news for her — it's going to get worse, so she'd better learn how to deal with it. After plenty of heartache I finally resorted to professional help and found the solution. I'll give it to "Outa" for the price of this newspaper.

First: The louse will come home. They always do.

Second: Make up your mind that you will not greet him at the door with, "Where have you been? Why didn't you call? I've been worried sick."

Instead, say with a smile (if it kills you), "Gee, I'm glad you're home, honey. Now let's get some sleep."

This is not easy to do when he smells like a brewery and has trouble getting the key in the lock.

The next morning don't utter one word about what happened the night before. Soon he will be feeling better. Then say, "It's all right, dear," and smile when you say it.

I followed this procedure for three months and it cured my husband completely. — HAPPY NOW.

Dear Happy: Wonderful idea. Your formula of nonviolence and passive resistance is not only saintly but wise. It also requires enormous self-control and understanding. The results are worth the effort and it DOES work.

Worse Than Cancer

Dear Ann: There is a rumor going around school that it is possible to get lip cancer if you kiss a boy who smokes a lot and has the beginning of lip cancer.

Is this true or not? Can you tell us what lip cancer looks like? Thanks a lot. You're a pal. — TROUBLED GROUP.

Dear Group: I'm a doctor now but not a physician — and only a physician is qualified to give medical advice.

I consulted, however, with a physician who specializes in skin cancer, and he said it is not possible to get lip cancer from kissing a person — even if the person has lip cancer.

It is unwise, however, to kiss anyone who has a sore on his lip because you could get something deadlier than lip cancer, and I'm talking about syphilis. Sores which are stubborn about healing (particularly if they are around the mouth) should be seen by a physician without delay.

Sister's Choice

Dear Ann: My sister lost her husband several years ago. He left her well fixed, financially. They had no children.

Recently my sister told me she has written her will and generous sums will go to our son (her nephew) and the daughter of my brother (her niece).

We have an adopted daughter who is 17. We adopted her when she was an infant but she is just as dear to us as our son who is our flesh and blood. This sister was against the adoption and said so.

She always has been pleasant to the girl, however, calls and asks her to run errands, and has invited her on some lovely trips. (We always paid the girl's way.)

I think it's terrible that my sister is not including our daughter in her will and I'd like to know if I should ask her why. Yes or no? — AUSTIN HEARTACHE.

Dear Austin: No. An inheritance is a gift. Your sister does not owe either an explanation or apology. You sound a little money-hungry to me, Lady.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Drive Set For April 2 Get Cancer Leaflets

A sample packet of Cancer Crusade pamphlets was presented by Jim Brown, noted Cleveland Browns professional football fullback, to Mrs. Lawrence Newtz of East Liverpool and Galen Greenisen of Salem at a meeting of 450 Cancer Drive officials at Columbus over the weekend.

Mrs. Newtz is president of the Columbiana County Cancer Chapter and a member of the Ohio Cancer Society's Board of Trustees. Greenisen is 1965 campaign chairman for the county.

Brown, who is state campaign chairman, distributed the pamphlets to those attending for use in the Cancer Society's "Tell Your Neighbor" drive in connection with the annual fund effort in April.

The pamphlets answer specific questions about cancer. They will be distributed throughout the county by hundreds of volunteers, Mrs. Newtz said.

Crash Damages Light Truck, Rig

A light truck and a tractor-trailer rig were damaged in a collision Monday at 4:56 p. m. at Smith St. and Lincoln Ave.

A pickup truck operated by William E. Sandoe, 51, of Sallineville R. D. 1 was bumped by the turning rig owned by the Norwalk Upholstering Co. of Norwalk and driven by William E. Smith, 40, also of Norwalk, officers said.

Sandoe told police he was halted at the intersection when the rig bumped both left fenders of his pickup. Smith reported he was making a left turn from Smith St. to Lincoln Ave. He said he was watching cars parked on his right and did not realize he was too close to the pickup. There was damage to the left rear of the trailer, officers said.

There are more practicing psychiatrists in the United States than in any other country in the world — the latest recorded count being 13,425.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruce —

Dear Heloise: Iron stew pots will serve women for a lifetime if they are treated with patience and a great deal of TLC. (TLC means Tender, Loving, Care, Heloise.)

Cast iron is, by its very nature, brittle, and must be handled carefully. First, women should grease new pots (including the cast iron cover) and put them in a warm oven about 250 degrees for several hours, re-greasing frequently.

Then fry bacon a few times. After each use, wash them in warm water without detergent if possible and dry immediately.

If the cooking surface seems dry, apply a thin film of unsalted grease before storing it.

Dutch ovens are prone to give lots of trouble since water is used in the cooking process in the ovens. Therefore, some cooks prefer to fry in the Dutch ovens the first few times they are used.

When the utensil is removed from the heat, always take off the cover to prevent excess moisture from dripping down on the food. Remember, after washing without strong detergents and scouring powders, dry and grease with a paper towel.

When strong detergents and scouring powders are used re-seasoning is necessary.

MRS. S. H.

DEAR HELOISE: My husband takes his lunch to work every day and usually eats alone.

At night he is too tired to read the newspaper completely, so I make it almost a ritual to clip any editorials of interest, or items I think would interest him, and put them in his lunch box.

You would be surprised how much he appreciates this.

AUDREY GRANTHAM.

DEAR HELOISE: When I travel I always take along wash and wear shirts, doing one each evening after I shower before dinner.

Naturally I launder them fast and furiously as I'm not a laundress by inclination.

My trips sometimes last four to six weeks and when one washes shirts fast only collar and cuffs generally get soaped. When I get home I send the shirts to the dry cleaners (not the laundry), and believe me, when they come back on a hanger they look like new and are ready for another trip around the world.

GASTON JOHNSON.

DEAR HELOISE: There are many people who use butter, though I understand you use oleo.

Sometimes our butter becomes stale. When it does, I put it in a bowl, set in on the drainboard and let it come to room temperature. I then pour it in my mixer, add a dab of milk and beat it well.

The excess milk I drain off. I find that the milk absorbs the rancidness of the butter and makes it fluffy and fresh again.

NORA PRESSLY.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a small but useful hint in regard to keeping a cutting board attractive.

When the board was new, I rubbed cooking oil on it to season it and give it a mellow finish. Now, after each use, I wash and dry the board then rub cooking oil on it to subdue the knife cuts.

If you will notice, the cutting boards in meat markets always have a mellow look... due to the fat from the meat.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Discipline Needed To Stop Back Talk

One of the unhappy experiences of many a mother is to hear her child talk back to her. Frequently a child is unhappy hearing his mother or father talk back to him. The child typically a teenager often starts this wordy warfare. Why, then, should we not expect Dr. Garry Myers him to be the first to end it? He knows before he talks back that he is likely to hear angry words from his parent; sometimes he is provoked to wrath and talks back because his parent was first to utter ugly talk.

In any event the parent, being older and with more experience, should take the initiative in avoiding ugly, angry words. This conflict usually arises because the parents had not effectively taught the child in his early years to respect the little word "no" and had not won his cooperation.

Here is my reply to a mother who wrote that her thirteen-year-old boy talks back to her and calls to her, "Hey you!"

"I CAN see how you feel when your son talks back to you. But you hardly can hope to correct this ugly way of his by also talking back to him. If you can manage yourself at such times, you might be very effective if you waited for several hours or days when you felt very calm and companionable with him, to ask whether he wants to keep on talking back to you.

"Apparently you parents have not worked out very good measures of control and have not discovered effective punishments such as denials of a very highly cherished privilege. Instead, you are inclined to get angry and just talk.

"I think you parents should sit down together in private and try to figure out the few places in which you wish to restrain your child with some rules to this effect. Be careful to center on only those plans you can carry out. Name together some of his good traits and resolve ways to encourage them with him. Enlist your friends to work with you in this direction. Consider ways of having more good times with him.

"EMPHASIZE activities in which you can cultivate a finer relationship with this boy. Try to build up the best in him. Dad might do a good deal at this.

"I hope you welcome to your home his pals.

"When he says, 'Hey, you,' that is not the time for you to get angry. Wait for some more favorable time when you might be able in your lovely way to get him to want to say, 'Mother,' or the like. So many things are involved in your problem that I don't feel adequate in offering you a very detailed solution."

Wellsville Gives $571 For Annual Heart Campaign

A total of $571.50 in advance gifts has been received in the Wellsville Heart Fund drive, according to Mrs. William Bush, city chairman.

This was the response to letters mailed over a week ago to business and professional people and also includes a $477.50 donation from the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

Crucible's donation is almost $150 more than last year, Mrs. Bush said. One memorial gift was included.

A house-to-house canvass will be made of the community on Heart Sunday, Feb. 21, by members of the Wellsville High School Key Club.

The area of Township Line Rd. will be canvassed by members of the 4-H Club conducted by Mrs. Charles Glass. The youths may work this week to avoid the possibility of encountering bad weather, Mrs. Bush said.
